Carole Burrows is continuing Bob's project of collecting used eyeglasses, cases, and cell phones for the Lions Club. A collection box is located on a shelf in the clubhouse for this purpose.

Thank you for your continued support.

Fountain East Security Patrol

Our evening security patrol is a volunteer opportunity for you to help keep our park safe and secure; however, it is every resident's responsibility to be aware of suspicious activity and/or people in the park. If you feel something is not right, if you see someone on a bicycle or walking in the park who does not belong, you should contact the POLICE immediately.

With so many of our residents will be gone, we must remember that it is the responsibility of each of us to secure our homes. As residents, we should also be aware of what may be happening at our absent neighbor's home...your vigilance keeps all of us safe and secure.

If you would like to participate in our evening security patrol, please contact: Bob Clark (#66 602-499-0800)

If you are in need of temporary medical equipment such as a transport chair, crutches, walkers, bedside commode, riser toilet seat, canes, please contact:

Eva Watson #204 480 818-1160

Fountain East Veterans Association (FEVA)

FEVA offers the opportunity to retire your tired and worn flags with honor and respect. Please deliver your torn and damaged flags to Dick Baird (#109). Your flag will be honorably retired by the Elks Lodge-sponsored Boy Scout Troop with an official and proper ceremony.

Please remember that there are dumpsters located behind the clubhouse specifically for recycling: cardboard, paper, plastic (#1 & #2), aluminum cans. Please do not fill up the garbage dumpsters with these items. Your use of the recycle bins benefits the association. Also remember that you can also recycle your used batteries in the basket provided in the clubhouse.

 The gate will be closed 24/7 and each resident will be given the code. Any group that needs to have the gate open afer 6:00pm must see the manager who can then control the gate. Security cameras are being installed around the park.

Goals of the Executive Board were read (see below).

Good Day to All.....

I hope all is well and everyone is engaged in our park activities this Spring.

Our Executive Board has met several times and continues to work together even if we are scattered across our nations.

Some of the initiatives we will be undertaking include: reviewing and updating our Association Guidelines in order to provide clarity and understanding of our purpose; reviewing our insurance in order to provide adequate coverage; reviewing events and activities so that they provide value and good use of available resources; encouragement of our residents to become more involved.

We will implement an open forum at the close of each business meeting as a platform for communicating concerns. We encourage all residents to be aware of and understand the limitations of the Association's power, and we ask that anyone addressing a problem be factual, patient and respectful.

We will be encouraging residents to make their concerns known through the proper channels, i.e., with problems with an activity, speak with that chairman; for concerns with AAMHO, speak with the FE AAMHO Representative; for concerns with a park matter, speak to the park manager; and for other common concerns, speak to any member of the Executive Board.

Our Executive Board members are committed to listening...with patience, empathy and respect. As appropriate, we will review our common concerns and decide upon an action.

Thank you for your support and understanding.

Have a great spring and a sunny day!

Wally Peech, 2017-18 FE Association President

The final ladies' luncheon of the season was held on April 12. Chairmen for the event, Jan Wilhite and Rosie Zentner, were ably assisted by Lynn Carrell, Betty Copas, Marilyn Peterson, Alice Spearman, and Joan Wadle. Audrey Brewster said the Grace.

The beautiful centerpieces were created by Cindy Pryor and Connie Coleman and were a lovely tribute to Spring and Easter.

At the general meeting: Chairs for the monthly luncheon were announced; Memorial Committee Chairs were asked for; Out-to-Lunch Chairs were set; Committee Chairs were established for the Craft Faire/Bake Sale in December. After a presentation by Jan Wilhite, it was voted to donate funds to help defray costs of a new project: Knitted Knockers (a program that provides soft prostheses for breast cancer patients). Joanne Rebilas reported that 8 new wheels for the trolleys had been purchased. Over the summer an investigation will take place as to how to replace the signs on the sandwich boards used to promote various events.

Margret Atwood Ladies' Club President

FROM THE MANAGER

I hope that all of our winter residents who have left us for the summer had safe travels back to your summer homes. Those of us who stay year-round will be thinking of you when it is 115 degrees here!

There is not a lot to report on this month. We are still cutting through the red tape on the pool, but my hope is that work will start very soon. I am busy getting quotes for our surveillance system for the front gate and common areas, and I am still keeping up the efforts to get the front fence oleanders replaced and trimmed.

That's all I have for now. Everyone have a great month and take care.

Bill Walker, Fountain East Manager

Over 40 people gathered at Tasty Joe's on March 31 for a surprise birthday celebration. And a surprise it was!

Wishing you many more happy days, Betty Copas!

The poker group saying goodbye to Jo Griffin.

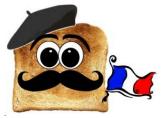

It's Called "A 5th Saturday Breakfast"

During the summer months that have a 5th Saturday, you will have the opportunity to enjoy a special breakfast in place of coffee and donuts. The first one was April 29th. The next ones will be on July 29th then September 30th.

Carolyn Taylor chaired the event and was the Chef-du-Jour. Patty Maxson served as her second in command with the troops being Audrey Brewster, Linda Wight, Margret Atwood, and Aleta Nybakke. Over 50 residents and guests enjoyed the change-ofpace Saturday breakfast. Choices were French toast stuffed with cream cheese and blueberries and another stuffed with ham and cheese. Of course you could have some of each. Then there were sausage links and a fresh fruit cup.

Cinco de Mayo is a national holiday in Mexico commemorating the Battle of Puebla. On May 5, 1862 a small group of Mexican soldiers defeated a formidable French army that was twice its size. Mexico had long before (September 16, 1810) declared its independence, but there were constant struggles to maintain Mexico's freedom for a long time after the country became independent from Spanish rule.

With so many people of Mexican descent in the Phoenix area, it's no wonder that Cinco de Mayo is a day much anticipated in the Valley of the Sun. Cinco de Mayo means "fifth of May" in Spanish. It's a day for fun, and music, and dancing, and food.

Traditional Mexican Guacamole:

- 2 avocados, peeled and pitted
- 1 cup chopped tomatoes
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped onions
- $\frac{1}{4}$ chopped cilantro
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 jalapeño pepper, seeded and minced (optional)

salt and ground black pepper to taste

Mash avocados in a bowl until creamy. Mix in the tomatoes, chopped onion, cilantro, lemon juice and jalapeño (if used). Season with salt and pepper and serve with tortilla chips.

Frozen Watermelon Margaritas

- 5 cups watermelon, cubed, seeded, frozen
- 1 cup tequila
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup triple sec
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup fresh lime juice
- ± cup sugar

Place watermelon pieces in an airtight container and place in freezer overnight. Put frozen watermelon and other ingredients in a blender and blend until smooth. Pour into margarita glasses and garnish with watermelon slices.
